

STRATEGY DEVELOPMENT

You have a unique set of circumstances in running your business. EMR can help you save money and improve operating efficiency by analyzing your competitive, regional and industry landscape and acting as your energy expert.

Strategy Development services will:

- Review your current supply strategy;
- Analyze location requirements by region and utility;
- Conduct a full utility-bill review and evaluation;
- Determine your tolerance for business interruptions;
- Evaluate alternative supply options;
- Provide price-risk management consultation;
- Assess tax strategies;
- Recommend a comprehensive supply strategy.
- Recommend a comprehensive risk management strategy.

Energy supply is continuously becoming a more complex and more controllable expense to your operations. A comprehensive energy evaluation and strategy will provide the framework to implement and manage your energy requirements to enhance your operational effectiveness, identify cost-reduction opportunities, control energy costs in the future, and minimize risks associated with the new energy markets.
